5. Shay Rays | Artemis Coffee
 5507 17th Ave NW
 "Shay Rays is a visionary artist who maps the hidden terrain of the subconscious, translating dream imagery, symbolic architecture, and shamanic elements into layered color fields that act as portals to expanded perception."

1. Interpretations of Line and Shape Show

BallardWorks is again picking brains by proposing a radical twist to the chicken and the egg conundrum with an Art Walk special titled: Interpretations of Line and Shape. We will also be displaying a selection of Mail Art from local and international artists called Drop me a line.

2. Dustin Low

Dustin Low is a Seattle-based artist and designer who creates functional ceramics inspired by his connection to Washington's natural and built environments. Dustin will be at Niche for part of the Ballard Art Walk, demonstrating some of his techniques. Please stop by to meet the artist and enjoy some light food and beverages.

3. Elizabeth Craddock

Elizabeth is a Seattle-based painter and print designer who loves exploring the shapes and rhythms of nature through color. Her work focuses on plants, light, and the way simple forms can shift into something more playful or unexpected.

4. Taylor Fealy

In 2019 Taylor discovered embroidery and was hooked ever since. Bitch-n-Stitch Embroidery was created shortly after as a way to build community, teach embroidery, and share the magic of learning something new, one stitch at a time!

5. Shay Rays | Artemis Coffee

"Shay Rays is a visionary artist who maps the hidden terrain of the subconscious, translating dream imagery, symbolic architecture, and shamanic elements into layered color fields that act as portals to expanded perception."

6. Amira Elsokkary | Aluel Cellars

Amira is back with new works to showcase inspired by recent international travels. Enjoy $1 off glass pours while you visit with Amira to hear about the inspiration behind her pieces.

7. Nigel Gladhart | Venue

Nigel Gladhart has been turning wood since 2015. He specializes in making bowls, lidded boxes, platters and hollow-form vessels.

8. Angela Chiu

Angela creates surrealism pencil art that features interesting figures and shapes!

9. Saachi Das Kuwayama

We will be showcasing Saachi's Treats & Textiles collection, which celebrates snack foods and textiles from Japan and India, where Saachi's parents are from.

10. Elizabeth Carpenter

"My photographic work extends from my life in the arts as a dancer/singer -songwriter & lover of wandering the streets, parks & alleys in this world."

11. Minami Wrigley | Channel Marker Cider

Nature-inspired drawings! (plus cider!)

12. Jessie Greer Brown

Jessie is a self-taught oil and acrylic painter and illustrates using graphite, ink and digital media. Her early works drew from the Surrealist tradition, but now she paints from the natural world.

13. Minami Wrigley

Minami is drawn to lines in landscapes, and is why she pursued intaglio printmaking and etching. Having grown up in multiple countries, the relationship of memory and intimate personal experience in shaping one's perspective has always interested her. The notion of mapping often takes place in her works.
